

AUDIO ENGINEERING OVERVIEW

(Live Sound and Recording Arts)

(5 Credits)

This course is for students interested in increasing their skills in:

- live sound production.
- recording.
- video and video editing.

Students will work with sound engineers and professionals in the industry, complete a variety of projects, work at Facey Music shows in the areas of live sound, recording and video and also be able to showcase their work in a variety of platforms. Students may also have the opportunity to be hired and work in live sound in venues in Edmonton, depending upon their levels of experience and expertise. Creative Music works closely with venues and artists in the Edmonton and area and helps to encourage and promote their students to work within the music and arts industry. Students will complete a variety of workshops and instruction with a professional sound and recording engineer. Audio Engineering is offered in conjunction with the Creative Music Program.
